

tiag® Exhibits at Defense Health Information Technology Symposium July 24-26 in Orlando

RESTON, Va., July 3, 2018 – Leadership at tiag® is pleased to announce that the firm will exhibit at the 2018 Defense Health Information Technology Symposium (DHITS). Taking place July 24-26 at the Caribe Royale Hotel and the Grand Caribe Convention Center in Orlando Florida, DHITS brings together information technology professionals, health care providers, administrators and participants from the Military Health System (MHS), the Defense Health Agency (DHA) and Military Services Health IT community.

For almost two decades, tiag — an innovative technology services firm and systems integrator esteemed for unique approaches, synergistic processes and transformational solutions — has been deeply involved in the defense health community at every level, from individual medical treatment facilities and medical commands to numerous branches of MHS and DHA.

“We are honored to advance the progress of military health care modernization by assisting with architecture, testing, certification and interoperability of DoD's new Electronic Health Record (EHR) — known as MHS Genesis — as it rolls out to the greater defense health community,” says tiag Managing Principal and Chief Strategy Officer Umang Modi. “We also continue to support DHA Joint Operations Medical Information Systems with legacy military theatre applications for first responders on the battlefield.”

Conference attendees can find tiag in Booth 913 at DHITS, where the firm will demonstrate its innovative services including mobile platform and software development; cloud integration and data center consolidation; cybersecurity and information assurance; systems integration and interoperability; data analytics; and the IT company's new Warrior Performance Platform (WP2™), among other solutions.

For the fourth year, tiag is also hosting a networking social for the Defense Health community, together with Irving Burton Associates, Inc. (IBA), on Tuesday July 24 from 7:30 pm to 11:30 pm at Howl at the Moon Orlando on International Drive. The first 300 guests to arrive will receive open-bar wristbands. To learn more, visit tiag in Booth 913 on the day of the event.
